(Must login to the website first as this is a members only event)

1. Origins: Jeep vehicles have their roots in military use. The first Jeep, the Willys MB, was designed during World War II for military purposes.

2. Name origin: The term "Jeep" is believed to have originated from the phonetic pronunciation of "G.P.," which stands for "General Purpose" or "Government Purpose" vehicle.

3. Iconic design: The Jeep Wrangler's iconic seven-slot grille has been a consistent feature since the CJ-2A model in the 1940s.

4. Global presence: Jeep is a well-known brand worldwide, with production facilities and a strong presence in countries such as the United States, Brazil, China, and Italy.

5. Longevity: Jeep vehicles have a reputation for durability and longevity. Some Jeep models, like the Jeep Cherokee and Jeep Grand Cherokee, have been in production for several decades.

6. Jeep wave: There's a tradition among Jeep Wrangler owners known as the "Jeep wave." It's a friendly wave or gesture exchanged between Jeep drivers, acknowledging their shared love for the brand.
